Bartholomew, William
Death: Oct. 26, 1897
Publisher: The Democrat-Star

The DEMOCRAT-STAR is grieved to announce the death of one its faithful and conscientious workers. Mr. William Bartholomew, who has been working for this paper since May 11, 1896, departed this life on Tuesday, October 26th, at 6:35 p. m. He was born 46 years ago in the city of Baltimore, Md. By his unassuming and kindly disposition, Mr. Bartholomew had won the esteem of his employer and a large circle of friends. But little was known of his life previous to coming to Scranton. During his stay here he neither wrote nor received a letter, and outside of a brother, Francis Bartholomew, who resides at Baltimore, he had no known relatives. May the sod rest lightly over his grave.
